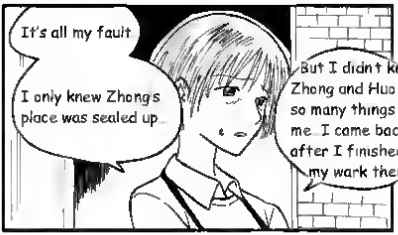
T/N I use sister not only because it's quite literal but also to show the infermainty of the way of addressing
Not that they're imitating African Americans



It's all my fault
I only knew Zhong's place was sealed up
But I didn't know Zhong and Hua hid so many things from me. I came back after I finished my work there

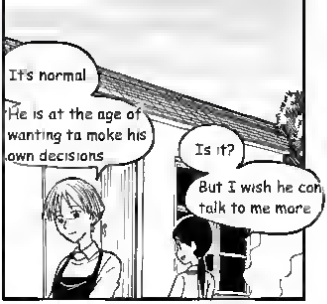
I'm nothing much either
I have been unable to understand what Ming is thinking recently



It's normal
He is at the age of wanting to make his own decisions
Is it?
But I wish he can talk to me more

All boys have similar stages, everything will be fine when it's over

After that, kids will grow up slowly into reliable adults

Reliable adults?
Mum!
Just speak whatever you need!
Yeah like Zhong

Hey... I mean
Mum~don't say things like that in front of me although it's a compliment
Ahaha, he's blushing

Actually Ming is already great now. He knows diligence and hardworking

If he's outstanding enough when he grows up
I may reluctantly broker something between him and Hua
Hahaha, that kid might be actually into it now

If possible, would you please not tell the leaders?
That's what you're thinking? Isn't the most important thing sending the kids to hospital now?!
I'm not telling!
That's the best! That's the best!

T/N The original Chinese words have multiple meanings, of which I feel it is inappropriate to let go any. Thus I use the slash
